

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE BY ACTING PREMIER HODLEY OF ELECTION ON JUNE 19—NOTHING BUT BARE ANNOUNCEMENT IS GIVEN OUT, PREMIER BROWNLEE BEING IN VANCOUVER—LIBERAL LEADER McDONALD AT MACLEOD, GETS NEWS AND SAYS HE IS READY FOR BATTLE

Edmonton, April 24.—The Alberta provincial election will be held on Thursday, June 19.

Official announcement of the date was made this morning by Hon. George Headley, acting premier, speaking for Premier Brownlee, who is at present in Vancouver.

The U. F. A. government still has one year of its five-year term to serve, but the calling of an election has not been entirely unexpected as there have been rumors for some time that this would be done.

Hodley's Statement

The following statement was issued by Hon. George Headley, on behalf of Premier Brownlee, announcing the election:

"In keeping with its promise during the recent session that if an election were to be held this summer ample notice would be given, the government today announced its decision to hold an election this summer, with polling day fixed for the nineteenth of June.

"The government confidently believes the agreement for the transfer to the province of its natural resources will be ratified at the present session of the Dominion house.

This agreement, following the completion last year of the line of the northern railways brings to a close the last of the major problems facing the province in the past nine years. In selecting the personnel and determining the policy of the administration of the natural resources a new set of problems of no less importance faces the province for the next few years.

"From an administrative viewpoint, therefore, this year marks the close of one and the beginning of another era and is an appropriate time for an appeal to the people. The people are entitled to say to what government they wish to entrust the responsibility of administering the natural resources and in order to allow the administration an undisturbed term in assuming this task, considers it advisable that an election should be held at once."

From the statement of Mr. Headley, it is evident that the main appeal of the U. F. A. government

MACLEOD BOARD OF TRADE BANQUETS C. A. MERCER, RETIRING PRESIDENT

A banquet complimentary to C. A. Mercer, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and president of the Board of Trade, who has been promoted to the superintendent's office of the bank in Calgary, was held last Thursday night in the Vimy Ridge Cafe, and was attended by a large number of the members of the Board of Trade and business men of the town.

As the annual meeting and banquet of Board of Trade was not held as usual in February on account of unavoidable circumstances, the meeting last night took the place, to a certain extent, of the annual meeting. The secretary, N. S. Kirk, gave a brief outline of the work done by the board during 1929, in which he stated that a great deal of the work of the board was not apparent to the outside, but on the inside the board had done considerable work looking towards the future. The maps circulated by the board of the Board of Southern Alberta and more particularly the Blue and Red highways, leading through Macleod, had been well received all over a large part of Canada and the States, and many enquiries had been received through the influence of these maps.

He also stated that since the connecting of the town power plant with the Calgary Power Co.'s plant, unlimited power was available, and the board was alive to the extensive facilities which Macleod could now offer both for power and as a railway centre for the establishing of industries.

Liberal Leader Ready

When informed last Thursday of the date of the provincial election, J. W. McDonald, C. K. Liberal leader, stated that he was not surprised. He had this week received information from a reliable source indicating that the election would be held about the middle of June.

"Will there be a Liberal candidate for every constituency?" he was asked.

"That will rest with the constituency Liberal conventions," was the leader's reply.

"Naturally I think we will win. We are going to make a good fight of it. I think the people of Alberta are growing tired of class government and the extravagance of the past few years."

"Do you yourself plan an active campaign?" he was asked.

"From now to the day of the election, I have been active since I was chosen in Calgary, and plan to visit nominating conventions of the Liberal party wherever called on."

It is a foregone conclusion here that Mr. McDonald will be the Liberal candidate in this riding. He was defeated by 104 majority in a three-cornered fight in the last election. It is believed here that the battle this election will be a straight fight between Mr. McDonald and the sitting member, W. H. Shield, Farmer.

W. WHITWORTH PURCHASES MCNEIL-MATHEWS BUILDING

Another important property deal has just been put through in Macleod within the past few days, when one of the best central business blocks on the Main street was purchased by William Whitworth, fancy goods and stationery merchant. The building has been known as the McNeil-Matthews block and comprises the large handsome store, occupied by the Rexall drug store, on 24th street, and the Distributors store and McNeil Electric company store on Second avenue.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce occupies the corner and the block in question surrounds the bank. The second floor is occupied as apartment suites, which always command good tenants, as they are well fitted and have been kept in excellent shape.

The purchase price was around $12,000 cash, it is reported. This is just another evidence of the prosperity of Macleod, and rumor has it, that one or two new business blocks are to be erected on the Main Street in the near future. The building has been owned for a number of years by the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION—BREAST-FEEDING

To nurse her baby is the first duty of every mother. Fat is required to build up fatty tissues, and to provide energy and heat; carbohydrates (sugar) are required for the same purposes; proteins are needed to build the tissues of the body. These elements are present in mother's milk and are therefore found in a proportion suitable to the infant and in a form that makes for easy digestion. Mothers' milk is a perfect baby food because it is perfectly adapted to serve as nourishment for the baby.

It is much easier for a mother to nurse her infant than it is for her to prepare artificial feeding properly. To prepare feedings takes a great deal of time because of the amount of care which must be given to cleaning bottles and utensils, and to making the frequent changes necessary to adapt the feedings to the needs of the growing child.

Breast-milk is sterile. There is no danger of disease germs being picked up and spread by its use. It carries with it to the infant some protection against the communicable diseases. Success in nursing depends upon a determination to do it. A half-hearted attempt, with an idea that it will meet failure, generally does lead to failure. Even if it is not possible to completely nurse a child, breast-feeding should not be given up, because even the smallest amount of breast-milk is of real value to the baby.

Breast-feeding is often given up because of a mistaken idea that the child is not thriving, or that he would do better on some artificial feeding. It is a serious responsibility to wean a child because it takes away from him what he needs most. It is true that infants are often brought up successfully on artificial feedings, but taking it by and large, the strongest, healthiest babies are breast-fed.

There is less sickness, there are fewer deaths among those infants who are so fortunate as to be naturally fed. It can be stated with confidence that there is no other factor of such great importance to the health of babies as natural feeding. If every infant were to be breast-fed, at regular hours, the problems of infant hygiene would be well on the way to solution. It is the right of the child to receive the food intended for him, and it is the mother's pleasurable duty to see that he gets it.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

MOUNTAIN VIEW LODGE NO. 4—ANNIVERSARY CHURCH SERVICE

Mountain View Lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F., and Mountain View Rebekah Lodge No. 23, of Macleod, held their anniversary church service on Sunday evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, when there was a fair turnout of brothers and sisters present. The heavy rain of the early part of the day prevented all the country members from attending. Two carloads of Rebekah and Oddfellows from Granum came down to be present at the service.

Brother Rev. Alex Ferguson, M.A., minister of the church, occupied the pulpit, and preached a most appropriate Oddfellows' sermon, taking for his text, 1st Cor., 16:13 "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

In developing his address from this text Mr. Ferguson, brought out in striking manner the three great principles of the Order, "Friendship," "Love" and "Truth," showing that members by living up to their obligations and carrying out these principles, should make better men and women, and help their fellow-men in the world to live better lives. Mr. Ferguson referred to the lives of several illustrious men whose lives were as notable examples of the text, which showed that it was possible to live up

THE COMING PROVINCIAL ELECTION

This paper is not in politics. It is, as the caption at the top of the front page has indicated ever since the present management took hold of it, "Partisan only in the interests of this community." It is the opinion of the editor that the best interests of the Macleod constituency will be served by our supporting the candidature of Mr. J. W. McDonald, K. C., leader of the Provincial Liberal Party, in the general election to be held on June 19th, and that the electors of this constituency will serve their own interests best by supporting Mr. McDonald.

It is some time since the Macleod constituents had an opportunity of voting for the leader of one of the political parties. The last time they had such an opportunity the majority of them failed to realize that it was good business for them to avail themselves of it, and we are all pretty well agreed now that a great mistake was made at that time.

With us this is a matter of good business for Macleod and district rather than a matter of politics. We appreciate keenly the honor that has come to the southern end of the Province generally and to the Macleod constituency particularly in the elevation of Mr. McDonald to the leadership of the Liberal party, and we know of no better way of expressing that appreciation than by giving him our whole-hearted support during the campaign and at the polls.

THE TOURIST INVESTMENT

Encouraged by a 1929 tourist trade of twenty million dollars, the Japanese Government announces that it will spend one million dollars this year in advertising and publicity to bring in still more tourists.

Last year the United States tourist trade brought Canada four hundred million dollars. Had Canada judiciously spent one per cent of this amount, or four million dollars, advertising throughout the United States just what there is for tourists and sportsmen and motorists to see and do in Canada, it is a business certainty that instead of four hundred millions, Canada's tourist trade would have totalled eight hundred millions. And this in spite of everything that small-minded, face-making, tongue-sticking, cheap politicians have been and are now trying to do to stir up bad feeling throughout Canada against Americans generally.

These same politicians in Canada do not seem able, or for selfish reasons do not see fit to confine their criticism of Americans to the small group in Washington, which, like themselves, for selfish reasons has been manipulating the tariff to the detriment of their best customer, Canada, and to the detriment of their own 120,000,000 people.

But regardless of how our politicians in both countries act and feel towards one another, that feeling should be confined to the small groups that incur that feeling, rather than be extended to those 120,000,000 Americans who are, in many cases, inter-related and inter-married with Canadians, who are Canada's neighbors and friends and who are all Canada's potential tourist customers.

If things have not been too good financially in Canada during the past six months, what would financial conditions be like throughout this Dominion if Americans felt they were not welcome visitors to Canada?

The four hundred million dollars they brought to Canada last year was cream, top money, and every garage, every hotel, every railway employee and every store in Canada shared a few dollars of that money.

The Vancouver Sun has urged that Ottawa go in for a one or two million dollar national campaign for tourists exactly as Japan has now decided to do and exactly as Switzerland, Italy, and even Africa, as well as the other countries of Europe have been doing for years. Either directly through services, or indirectly through foods and farm products, there is not an individual in Canada nor a member in Parliament who does not for himself or his constituents receive benefit from tourists.

In a national campaign for tourists, Mackenzie King has another splendid opportunity to prove that his Government is more interested in the difficult task of filling Canadian pockets than in the over-used political trick of pricking Canadian pride.—Vancouver Sun.

NEW WAR MACHINES

Great Britain is said to have a new war machine which makes all previous efforts look like mere toys. It is a machine which is run by clockwork and stuffed with bombs.

War science advances steadily, in the midst of peace endeavors. Weapons become more deadly. Their control moves farther and farther back from the front line.

Ultimately, at this rate, wars would be fought at home. A few engineers pushing electric switches would send deadly loads of explosives to be dumped on the enemy, and would watch the results through air fleets equipped with radio, television and various other improvements.

It would be a terrific slaughter, presumably. Explosives and gases and deadly rays would do their work while the weary foot-sloggers would indulge his time-honored dream of breakfast in bed.

But it would be expensive. Inconceivably so. And that brings us to the question of who would pay for it all.

The public, of course. In theory, that is all right. The public would pay till it hurts, as the public paid in the last war. Why would the public pay? Because it would be whipped up to a frenzy of race hatred by the matchless propaganda corps that inflamed the world from 1914 to 1918?

Yes, but only partly. The real reason for frenzy is not in propaganda alone, but in the association of that frenzy with loved ones. Those smiling millions who thrilled the hearts of their nations as they went out to die were the real inspiration. Cheer leaders and mourners alike generated fury and phobia at sight and thought of them.

It is the soldiers who not only fight but whose challenge to death inspires belief in a holy cause. Remove the soldiers and war would be a deadly dull thing that would interest only a comparative few.

So perhaps these weapon inventors are doing something in the cause of peace after all.

DINNERS AND DIVORCES

Colleen Moore, suing for divorce, charges, among other things, that her husband stayed away from a dinner party without explaining. That was an enormous thing to do. A man who would do that would slam the garage door. He might even deliberately omit to put out the cat.

But in all seriousness, one sympathizes with Colleen Moore. Not so much with the actress personally, but with the wifehood of which she is a member. With all wives, in fact, whose husbands disappoint them at dinner, either by staying away, or by coming late, or by coming too early and demanding when dinner will be ready, or by making playful but hurtful remarks about an opener, or by gulping select dishes without voicing some appreciation, or by finding fault, or by turning the table hour into a trial through lack of sympathy with gross and petty troubles.

And so on, ad infinitum. Dinner is a culmination of the day. It can be turned into a trough scramble, a drudgery, or a delightful affair. It is the time for flattery, for appreciative words, for restraint on unpleasant things and the free play of all things happy.

It is the constant symbol of reward for things done. There is more than one way of being absent from it. One can have one's feet square beneath the gateposts and still be a million miles from the table, in sympathy, in spirit, in the countless intangible small ways that go to make up that equality intangible quality we call congeniality.

TIME AND SPACE CHANGE

The Duchess of Bedford flies from England to Capetown in 100 flying hours, more than 90 miles an hour for her time in the air.

At the same time, a German scientist predicts airplanes that will cross the Atlantic, propelled by liquid gas, in six to eight hours.

These things upset all our old ideas of space and time. They make next door neighbors of people who once seemed hopelessly remote.

The real significance is that most people think of distance in terms of time. They think of Europe as being five to seven days away. Not so long ago they thought of South Africa as 100 days distant, instead of 100 hours.

In effect, then, we move closer to other people, and they move closer to us. The closer the neighbor, the sharper our interest in them, our curiosity about their habits and what they have for trade and what we have that they can use.

It is really a rewriting of history. The pioneers of the sea conquered distance, and trade routes followed them. The present century is conquering time. Again the inevitable result is trade expansion. This time it is not the opening of new routes, so much as expansion and specialization of old ones, that is of vital importance.

The nations of this new era which benefit the most are and will continue to be the nations which are prepared at all times to take immediate advantage of these conquests over time.

CEREAL RUSTS—METHODS OF CONTROL

Investigations carried on by the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, in co-operation with the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Saskatoon, have shown that rust is spread in Western Canada by means of spores carried by the wind and that these spores are found to a height of a mile or more overhead. Moreover, there is very convincing evidence that the earliest infections to appear in Western Canada arise from spores that have been carried in by winds from rust-infected areas further south. Obviously then it is impossible to build any barrier, or impose any quarantine measure for their exclusion. There are, however, two possible methods of controlling rust, and the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory, of the Experimental Farms Branch, has done a good deal of work on both. One of these is by applying some toxic substance to the plants which will adhere to them for a considerable length of time, so that, when the rust spores alight on the plants and germinate, they come into contact with the substance and are killed. Finely powdered sulphur has been found to give very effective control. The cost of the treatment is between $4 and $5 per acre. Quite satisfactory hand-dusters are available for treating small areas, and several manufacturers have made considerable progress in developing a type of machine suitable for large acreage. The other method is by breeding rust-resistant varieties of commercially desirable wheats, or other cereals. By the plant-breeding method, it has been possible to transfer a high degree of resistance, amounting practically to immunity, to a number of very promising strains of wheat. In milling qualities all of these are equal to Marquis and several of the more superior. Breeding for rust resistance in oats is progressing, and the prospects of developing strains of oats highly resistant to the most prevalent physiologic forms of oat stem rust are hopeful. On the other hand, no oat variety has been found which possesses any marked resistance to the most prevalent physiologic form of crown rust of oats. To control this rust, resort must be made to sulphur dusting and the eradication of the buckthorn, a shrub which serves to propagate this rust.

A very pretty and dainty arranged shower was given at Reynolds' Hall Friday afternoon by Mrs. W. B. Rogers, Mrs. J. H. Boyle, Mrs. R. Macleod, Mrs. J. Blair, Mrs. W. Blair and Mrs. D. M. Leyden in honor of Miss Bernice Stewart, bride-elect. At four o'clock a very prettily decorated wagon was drawn in by two little girls, Bobbie Rogers and Jacklyn Boyle, laden with beautiful gifts. Miss Stewart was assisted by Miss Jean Rogers and Miss Betty Stewart. A lovely lunch was served by the hostesses.

Pilot W. A. Sherman, of the Great Western Airways, Calgary, states to Granum acquaintances that although visibility of the partial eclipse of the sun on Monday as viewed from Calgary was obscured by clouds generally, that he by ascending 3000 feet in an aeroplane, and emerging into clear sky area above the clouds was enabled to view the eclipse perfectly, and was enabled to see distinctly the progress of the moon's shadow across the sun, which obscured about 80 per cent of old Sol's area.

Monday last looked like a real old-fashioned Arbor Day in Granum with tree planting holding the centre of the stage at the school and at the United Church. Mr. Sherman directed the work at the former place and Mr. G. R. Torrence at the latter. Several men of the Church put in about 650 carragana shrubs and nearly forty trees around the church property. Then, to guard against destruction of these by wandering animals, a fence was quickly built about the lots. In three years it is hoped to remove the fence entirely as none will be needed when the hedge grows up a little.

Daley Creek and Granum Y. P. S. crossed bats in an exhibition game last week on Wednesday evening at the Daley Creek Ball Park. Though darkness put an end to the fun too early for it to be a finished game, there was a good deal of excitement in the abbreviated contest, and while neither team was at full strength, a good deal of talent was evident. Art, for Granum, was hurling the ball over in well-known form, and Melburn and Leslie Baird were hitting on all six cylinders. George McDougall was a little wild, but showed he will be hard to hit when in form. Daley Creek forged ahead at the finish, and were leading when darkness intervened. Lineups were as follows: Daley Creek—Pitt 1b, MacGregor 2b, Lang 3b, L. Baird 3b, Plestard cf, R. Baird cf, W. Henker lf, M. Baird c, McDougall p. Y. P. S.—McKenzie 1b, E. Art 2b, Marsh ss, Clarke 3b, Little lf, Dersch cf, H. Henker cf, Field c, R. Art p. McKenzie hit also for the circuit, and Fred Clarke showed good fielding and throwing at third base. Mr. Rowe was able to reach home in good condition after umpiring the game.

A MENACE TO HEALTH

Our old enemy the House Fly will soon be with us again. He never fails to come around when the warm weather arrives. To annoy people and to cause trouble seems to be his special sin in life. From the baby's face to father's bald head, to the milk picher and to the food to some of his journeys well known to all of us. Yet in spite of this, and possibly because he is seen too often, it is doubtful of many of us ever fully realize the danger and filthy ways of this common pest.

The house fly lays her eggs (120 at one time) in fresh horse manure, she prefers it, but she will lay eggs in a heap of garbage or filth. With a very short incubation (2 weeks) period it can be seen how rapidly flies will multiply unless they are controlled. Naturally the best way to control the fly is to destroy the eggs or maggots before their wings are developed and they can move about rapidly.

Why is it necessary to destroy flies and keep them from hatching? All flies can carry disease germs; they are all filthy in the extreme. The legs of flies are provided with a great many short hairs (100 or bristles and, as the fly walks over filth containing disease germs, some of these are collected and held by the hairs. When the fly goes again to take a drink from the milk or touches food, some of the germs will be left behind in the milk or on the food. When these are swallowed later with the food by the baby or anyone else, they may cause such diseases as typhoid, diarrhoea, dysentery, or other illness.

Experiments with the house fly prove that it can be best controlled by sprinkling the infested parts of the manure with a 3% solution of Lyman's Disinfectant. One gallon of disinfectant makes 233 gallons of the solution and costs about 60¢ per year per horse. The solution should be applied about every second day or sufficiently often to ensure that all maggots are destroyed.

For the few that will escape this treatment, a cone trap should be employed. Placed in a sunny place, with tasty bait such as molasses and water it will account for most of those left. Write to the Red Cross Society for free literature, 407 Civic Block Edmonton.

HOG PASTURES

At Indian Head such pasture crops as rape, oats, barley, fall rye, and various combination mixtures have been under test for some years.

A variety of pastures are essential in order to provide abundance of succulent feed throughout the season, especially for young growing pigs and brood sows. Shade, and plenty of fresh water are important factors to keep in mind for pigs on summer pasture.

Rape has proved to be one of the best pastures under test, from the standpoint of gains and yield of succulent pasture throughout the summer and fall. A good stand of rape pasture is capable of carrying from fifteen to twenty pigs per acre. If the season is damp with periodic spells of hot blistering sun, the pigs are subject to sun scald.

Fall rye has also given good results as a hog pasture. It is possibly not as palatable as some of the other pastures, but it provides abundance of early feed for the spring litters.

Oats and fall rye sown early in June is to be recommended. This mixture provides succulent feed throughout the entire season.

Fall rye sown alone in June also provides abundance of green feed for the fall litters.

Coarse grains, such as oats, barley, etc., when sown alone or in combination supply abundance of green succulent feed. To obtain best results with these mixtures the pigs should be turned on when the growth is from six to eight inches high.

Annual crops are recommended on account of their value as pastures, and the seed is readily available.

Pastures provides abundance of cheap feed, reduce the feeding of concentrates, and are especially desirable for economical pork production with the heavier breeds.

NEW owners are delighted when they discover the advantages of owning a McCormick-

Ask some of them. You will find them enthusiastic about its close-skimming, easy-turning, silent operation—its cleanliness—and its fine appearance.

You don't know how much you are missing until you see and try the McCormick-

The Macleod district got another splendid soaking of rain on Sunday morning, which has put a stop to seeding Monday, but which, along with the heavy rains of a week ago, is providing an abundance of moisture, and giving the grain the finest seed-bed that has been seen in the district for some years. From all reports, about 70% of the wheat is already in the ground, and all the early sown grain is showing above ground and looking good. Several farmers have stated that they seldom have seen wheat sprout so quickly, owing to the moisture and the ground being warm with the hot sunny days we have been experiencing. By the end of this week the bulk of the wheat will be in the ground, if the weather is favourable.

Richard Robertson and old time farmer of the Macleod district, died at the Macleod General Hospital on Tuesday night, after being a patient in the Hospital for about two years.
Mr. Robertson came to the Macleod district in 1902, and since then was farming south of Macleod, till about two years ago, when through age and infirmities he sold out his farms and has been in the Hospital practically ever since. It is expected the funeral will take place on Friday.
George and Donald Robertson of the Ardenville district are both sons of the deceased.

of the lodge. Members of the lodge presented Mrs. Elton with a lovely set of shirley glasses as a small token of their regard for her and as a reminder of their good wishes for her future happiness. Mrs.
Elton suitably thanked the members.

were played during the evening, and the successful prize winners were Mrs. Edlund first, and Miss L. of were served by the hostess and sevhappy evening to a close.

One hundred million dollars reward

If all farmers cooperate to fight weeds, they will gain a collective profit of more than one hundred million dollars annually. This immense sum represents the yearly loss caused by weeds throughout Canada. It is based on the conservative estimate of George H. Clark, Commissioner of the Seed Branch, Federal Department of Agriculture.

LAST YEAR Canadian farmers suffered losses of from $250 to $2,000 dollars each because of weed conditions. Some were obliged to abandon farming altogether—so choked had the land become with couch grass and sow-thistle.

This misfortune has brought home an alarming truth—that weeds left to grow unchecked will take full possession of any farm and ultimately spell ruin for the owner.

Agricultural authorities agree that only by immediate, concerted action can farmers rid their lands of this wide-spread blight. They believe the most important thing any farmer can do is to clean up at least one field in 1930.

Weeds have already cost many millions of dollars... delay in dealing with them will cost millions more. To help Canadian Agriculture in its campaign to eradicate weeds, Imperial Oil Limited is now preparing a book which gives practical information that will simplify the job and make it successful. This book —"Weed Control"—is a companion volume to "Field and Farm Yard" which was published in 1929 and is now in the hands of 65,000 farmers.

"Weed Control" contains facts and figures collected from the experiences of weed authorities in all parts of Canada. It is not technical—but a simple, practical book dealing with the best and most successful methods of weed extermination. The Honorable Duncan Marshall, former Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, is its editor, and many other prominent weed authorities have contributed to its pages.

Weeds can be defeated if the job is tackled with system and patience. The reward will be bigger profits, more productive land, reduced labor costs and greater prosperity.

The successful plans and experiences offered in "Weed Control" will be extremely useful.
